“by leaving the materials raw, with exposed welding and a clear lacquered finish, we have given Ferro an organic, natural feel”

CHRIS RABY // ENGINEERING MANAGER

ferro raw furniture

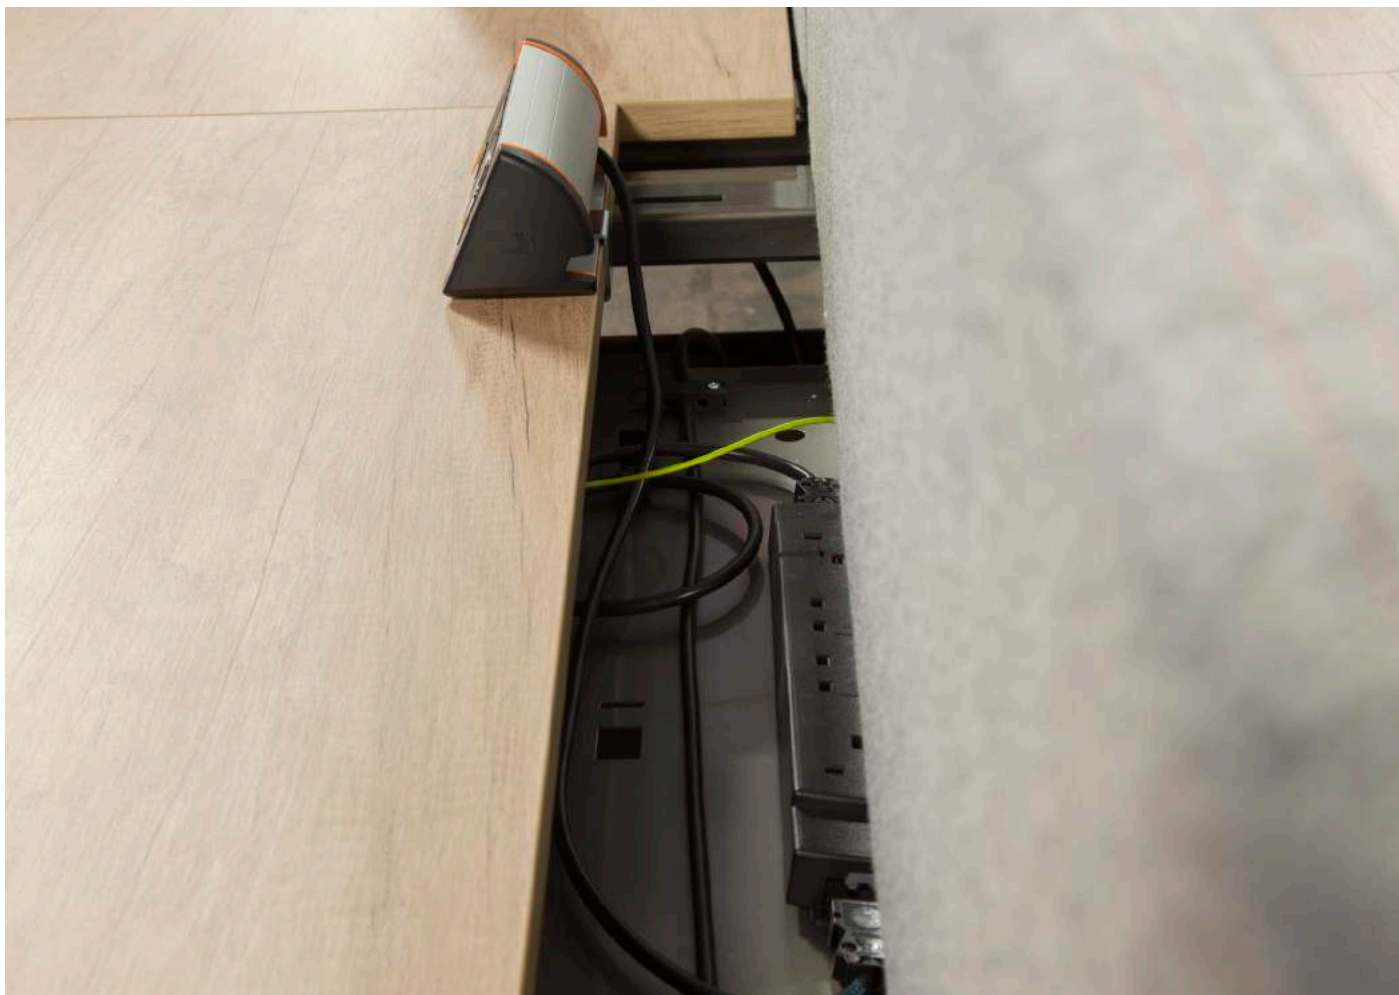

Utilising the raw aesthetic detail of the materials, Ferro emphasises natural textures and the beauty of the manufacturing process to create visually striking furniture. According to Engineering Manager Chris Raby: "Ferro is a homage to our manufacturing heritage", showcasing Flexiform's 40 years of designing and manufacturing high quality, highly finished office furniture. "Ferro is about expressing the materials and construction methods," Chris explains. "By leaving the materials raw, with exposed welding and a clear lacquered finish, we have given Ferro an organic, natural feel".

Featuring premium high pressure laminate finishes, Ferro worktops have a natural, textured feel that runs throughout the collection. With clear lacquered finishes emphasising raw construction, every Ferro product is unique, exhibiting both the natural texture of the materials, and expert craftsmanship put into creating each piece. Ferro is a truly unique range from Flexiform.
