picola home office desk

With more companies experiencing the benefits of flexible working and working from home, staff are setting up their own workspaces in their homes using the furniture they have to hand. However, uncomfortable desk set-ups can create health issues including backache, wrists and neck pain which ultimately makes us less productive. The Picola Homeworker desk is a cost-effective, modern desk designed to give a comfortable ergonomic set-up to any remote working staff member.

The Picola Homeworker desk is based on our most popular office desking range "Pico", keeping the high-quality design and British Manufacturing, but making it suitable for home use with easy self-assembly. This home office desk can be constructed in minutes with minimal tools (Allen key provided). Direct from the manufacturer and with a contract furniture grade finish all in white, the desk is tough and hardwearing, suitable for all staff members and home life. Add in an optional chair, monitor stand and laptop stand for the perfect home working set up.

-  WxDxH: 1000mm or 1170mm x 600mm x 740mm.
